

Sales Tax Manager for leading Sales Tax Consulting Firm (Chicago, IL, Sales Tax)

Sales Tax is a unique field, but you enjoy it. The complexity of the rules that change state to state is more of a puzzle than a problem. It's fun to look at a product (or service) and think through how to classify it for the different states and whether an exemption applies. Sure, it might take some research and even some negotiations with the state, but you know there's a right answer and you want to find it (and explain it to the client).

Consulting offers yet another challenge! It's not the same thing every day (or even two days in a row). Instead there's a lot of variety to challenge your knowledge and skill. Whether it's helping a company get registered and set up to start paying, or defending them from an audit, or helping to set up an taxability rules in a sales tax automation system, you're game for whatever comes. We don't do compliance but do help companies get registered and set up to be compliant. The variety is exciting and keeps things fresh.
